School District unveils new online payment option for parents

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

[Brookings, Ore.] – The Brookings-Harbor School District’s website now provides an online payment option for sports fees, field trips and yearbook orders.

Parents are still welcome to pay with cash or check to the secretary at any school office, but now have the added online option for days when they are unable to make it to the school or send payment with their child.

The district is using a new system called REVTRAK to accept debit or credit card payments from Visa, Mastercard and Discover. A small service fee of %3.61 percent is added to each payment via the online system.

Parents can also access and electronically sign permission slips via the system; and community members can use the new service to donate to a fund to provide field trip and sports fees for students who can not afford to pay.

To access REVTRAK, go to <https://brookings.revtrak.net>.

“We’re not replacing any of the existing options,” said Fiscal Services Director Kathy McKee. “This is just an additional service of convenience for parents. No more lost permission slips and checks!”

The school district already has a system in place online to pre-pay for school lunches. Parents can continue to use the school district’s MealTime Online service.

REVTRAK and MealTime Online can be found by clicking the icons in the right sidebar of all district and school pages at www.brookings.k12.or.us. Use of the new service comes at no cost to the district.
